

Call for Papers

We invite you to submit your contributions in .doc format to the conference secretary (iskorio2016@gmail.com) until March 15, 2016.

Please, inform, in the body of the email message, in which one of the three subthemes of the conference program your paper could be included, and the following information about all co-authors: full names, institutions, and email addresses.

We encourage you to prepare proposals up to 1500 words with citations (citations not included in word count), including aims, methods, main findings, and original value of the paper.

Proposals will be peer-reviewed by the International Scientific Committee Members based on the following criteria:

- relevance to the ISKO 2016 theme and topics
- scientific merit
- originality
- methodology
- language
